Body Cooling Products

Our Arctic Heat body cooling vests and other cooling products are specially designed to aid in reducing the effects of heat stress and reducing the likelihood of heat related illness.

A cooler body means less sweating.

Less sweating means the onset of dehydration is delayed.

Used worldwide by

- Leading sporting organisations to gain a competitive advantage through sustained levels of high performance
- Industrial organisations to prevent heat stress in the workplace
- Medical organisations to reduce the effects of heat related illness common with conditions such as Multiple Sclerosis, Epilepsy and those impacted by Spinal Injuries.
